The President of the Ford Motor Co. Mr. Edsel B. Ford, says:—

"We are taking advantage of every known economy in the manufacture of our products in order that we may give them to the public at the lowest possible price, and by so doing we feel that we are doing the one big thing which will help this country into more prosperous times. People are interested in prices, and are buying when prices are right."

The enormous demand for Fords proves that Mr. Ford is right.

SOY BEAN HAY AS ROUGHAGE

Tennessee Station Finds It Superior to Corn Stover in Producing Milk and Butter.

The Tennessee station compared soy-bean straw and corn stover as roughage in the production of milk and butter. The ration containing soy-bean straw was found superior to that containing corn stover. This ration produced more pounds of milk and butter and produced them more cheaply than the cornstover ration. In every case there was less loss in milk and butter fat during the feeding of soy-bean straw than during the feeding of corn stover. It was concluded from these tests that soy-bean straw is a valuable addition to the roughage in the feeding of dairy cows.

PROTECT YOUNG FRUIT TREES

Mice Can Be Discouraged by Tramping Down Snow—Rodents Burrow in Grass and Refuse.

Protect young fruit trees from mice. Wire screens about the trees are good. Tramp the snow well about each tree. This will often discourage the mice working around it. They like to burrow in grass and other refuse near the tree under the snow and eat the bark.

ALL WORN OUT

Does morning find you with a lame, stiff and aching back? Are you tired all the time—find work a burden? Have you suspected your kidneys? Yale people endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbors. You can rely on their statements.

W. A. Woodruff, stationery engineer, Jones St., Yale, says:—"A short time ago my back was giving me quite a bit of trouble, caused by a cold settling in it and irritating the muscles. A dull, continual ache was present in the small of my back and at night this gave me quite a bit of trouble. I felt tired when I got up in the morning and through the day was languid and lacked pep. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and were accompanied with a smarting sensation. The benefit I got from Doan's Kidney Pills was great. Three or four boxes rid my back of that persistent ache and put my kidneys back in good shape again. Doan's Kidney Pills are fine medicine for backache and kidney trouble."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Woodruff had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N.Y.

COW TURNS FEED INTO FAT

Great Care Should Be Exercised in Selecting Fats and Starches, Giving Much Protein.

If a dairy cow is inclined to lay on fat, there is a very definite step to be taken. First, use great care in selecting her feed, limiting the fats and starches, and feeding heavily on proteins. If she still turns her feed into fat instead of milk, let her have her own way, and prepare her for the fulfillment of her destiny—the packing house.

CLEANLINESS MAY AID HEALTH

Fowls Are Shut Up During Winter Months and Suffer if House Is Not Cleaned Often.

In the summer time the poultry keeper is naturally inclined to slight cleaning the poultry house, as the fowls usually have the run of the farm. In the winter, however, the farm flock is shut up, and its health can easily suffer on account of neglect to keep the house clean.

USE PULLETS FOR BREEDERS

Only Those Fowls Which Have Proved Heavy Layers in Winter Should Be Selected.

If some pullets must be used for breeders, only those which have laid heavily during the winter should be selected. The heavy layer among the pullets will have a comb, pale skin, good width between pin-bones, soft abdomen, and at least four fingers' body depth.

Hi's Artistic Minnie

By CLAIRE SMITH.

Copyright, 1921, Western Newspaper Union

"Yes, ma'am, we can board you on the farm if you don't mind eating with Hi and me and the hired man. Six dollars a week, that's our price. You thought it was nine? It used to be nine, ma'am, but that was when Linborough used to be artistic, and when folks wants art, they have to pay for it."

"How did we stop being artistic? That's quite a story, ma'am. Our being artistic came on us quite like a flash, ma'am. One summer we was just folks, same as we are now, and the next we was artistic."

"Mrs. Higginbotham ran that art colony up on the hill—the big barn that's falling to ruin. No, we haven't been artistic for three or four years now, and the colony has moved to Greenfield."

"Minnie? Oh, Minnie's our daughter. Sort of a fine girl, Hi and I thought her, and that's why we sent her to college. Sam Bunn, the plumber, was sweet on her, and Hi and I hoped they would hitch up together when she come home, for Sam's a nice, quiet sort of fellow, and always was saving."

"Well, ma'am, Minnie came home from college, and Hi and I noticed she sort of sniffed the first evening. 'Father,' said Minnie, 'now that I am home I am going to improve things a little.'"

"Well, that suited Hi and me first rate, for we naturally thought she meant that she was going to help us old folks out with the chores."

"She'd got to be fast friends with that Higginbotham woman, and next day she broke the news to us that they'd rented the old Hopps place for an art colony and some fifty students of both sexes was coming."

"The townspeople was glad, for things were a bit dull in Linborough. 'The first shock come when Minnie had the house repapered.'"

"The next thing was the furnishings. Our furniture, which you can see, came from Hi's grandmother. But Minnie and some of the lady students borrowed our woodshed, and the first thing we knew, the furniture was up in the garret, and we had some new chairs and tables—all rough wood, with brass nails sticking out. After that Hi moved into the garret and spent his evenings there."

"I don't think he'd have stood for it much longer, only we put up our price from six dollars to nine, and we got quite a superior class of summer boarders."

"Now I was telling you about Sam Bunn. He'd always admired Minnie, and though she hadn't treated him well, he still hankered after her, so he and some other young men come up to talk it over with Hi, and the result was a Society for the Promotion of Being Artistic. It was beating Mrs. Higginbotham at her own game."

"It began when she found the frost had burst her pipes, and sent for Sam Bunn to listen respectfully."

"I'm sorry, Mrs. Higginbotham," he says, when she gets through, 'but I've joined our new Society for the Promotion of Being Artistic, and I can't fix 'em.'"

"Why not?" asks Mrs. Higginbotham.

"Pipes ain't artistic," answers Sam. 'Only wells an' old oaken buckets is artistic. No, ma'am. I can't fix 'em.'"

"Well, since Sam was the only plumber in town, she had to send over to Greenfield."

"Then there was Ed Kegges, the butcher. He wanted business, but he wanted Mabel Gough more, and Mabel was artistic. So he had joined the society, and he wouldn't sell lamb chops or ribs."

"'Chops ain't artistic,' Mrs. Higginbotham, he explained. 'What is artistic is barbecues. I'll sell you a whole ox to roast upon a spit. Spits is highly artistic.'"

"As for Jim Saunders, the grocer, he wouldn't sell anything but herbs. He said canned goods was vulgar. And since the roof was leaking, and there wasn't nobody knew how to thatch one, Mrs. Higginbotham gave up the fight and left."

"Yes, it did pay us, being artistic, but we don't envy Deerefield. And, as Hi says, he don't want to be artistic unless his armchair and pipe goes with it."

"Minnie? Oh, she's been Mrs. Bunn these two years past. They've got a brand new cottage up Nobscott way and a piano and two babies and Sam's doing well in the plumbing business. So, as I was saying, it's only six dollars again, but you'll have to eat with the hired man, ma'am."

Handy Plow.

A "spading tractor," which plows, harrows and cultivates, all in a single operation, was recently demonstrated at Rockford, Ill., according to Popular Mechanics Magazine for November. It has a tractor body with a series of fork blades attached at the rear. The blades revolve 200 times a minute and throw the dirt two feet into the air. The ground penetration is adjustable, with a maximum of sixteen inches. Each blade is backed by a spring which yields at a pressure of 900 pounds as a protection against breaking on rocks or other resisting objects in the soil. The tractor is equipped with a 25-horse-power engine using either gasoline or kerosene as fuel. About one gallon of fuel is required to the acre, and three acres an hour can be spaded.
